

You have the following rights regarding your personal data:

Right of access: you can request a copy of all data we hold about you.

Right to rectification: you can correct inaccurate data at any time from within the app.

Right to erasure: you can delete your account and all associated data from Settings at any time. This is permanent.

Right to data portability: you can export all your data as a JSON file from Settings → Data & Privacy.

Right to restriction: you can ask us to pause processing your data while a complaint is resolved.

Right to object: you can object to processing based on legitimate interests.

Right to withdraw consent: where processing is based on consent, you can withdraw it at any time.

To exercise any of these rights, contact us at hello@hyphn.app. We will respond within one month. If you are not satisfied with how we handle your request, you have the right to complain to the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) at ico.org.uk.

Client data: your responsibilities

When you add client names, email addresses, or postal addresses to hyphn for invoicing purposes, you become the data controller for that client's personal data, and hyphn acts as a data processor on your behalf.

This means you are responsible for:

Having a lawful basis for storing your clients' contact information

Informing clients that their data is held in your business management software

Responding to any subject access requests from your clients

Deleting client data when you no longer need it

If you are processing personal data from EU or EEA clients, you may also need to comply with the EU GDPR. You should seek legal advice if you are unsure of your obligations.

We recommend registering with the ICO if you process personal data in your freelance business. Registration costs £40–£60 annually and is a legal requirement for most self-employed people who process client data. More at ico.org.uk/registration.

Cookies

hyphn uses a small number of strictly necessary cookies to keep you signed in across sessions. We do not use advertising cookies, tracking pixels, or third-party analytics cookies.

Session cookie (Supabase auth): keeps you signed in. Expires when your session ends or after 1 week, whichever is sooner.

Theme preference: stored in localStorage on your device only, never sent to our servers.

Security

We take the security of your data seriously. hyphn uses row-level security in the database (each user can only access their own data), HTTPS for all connections, and encrypted storage for sensitive fields.

In the event of a data breach that affects your rights or freedoms, we will notify the ICO within 72 hours and inform affected users without undue delay, as required by UK GDPR.

Changes to this policy

We may update this policy as hyphn evolves. If we make material changes, particularly to how we use your data, we will notify you by email at least 14 days before the change takes effect. Continued use of hyphn after that date constitutes acceptance of the updated policy.

The date at the top of this page always reflects the most recent update.
